

Adventure on the High Seas

Matthew was a boy with black hair and brown eyes. He loved looking at the colorful ships at the Port of Taichung. Look! This ship has seven different colors: blue, white, orange, light green, dark green, black, and brown.

Wait! What was that? Matthew thought he saw a flash of bright red on the ship. He blinked. Maybe it was just the sun. There it was again! Matthew tiptoed onto the ship and peered around the corner. He saw an octopus waving an arm at him. The octopus was wearing a captain's hat!

The octopus seemed friendly, so Matthew smiled and waved back. Matthew felt a cool breeze and realized that the ship was moving towards the open seas! Time for an adventure!

Matthew smiled and looked around. He saw a mommy and a baby sea turtle in the water. He also saw some dolphins swimming with the ship. After a while, the ship slowed down and Captain Octopus jumped into the water. Matthew leaned over the side and saw Captain Octopus holding a beautiful blue starfish and a large purple sand dollar. There were small colorful fish swimming in the water next to Captain Octopus. Such beautiful ocean life!

After a minute, Captain Octopus put the starfish and sand dollar back in the water and climbed back onto the ship. The sun was so bright that Matthew closed his eyes. He thought he heard a cargo ship engine. He opened his eyes and found himself at the Port of Taichung. Alas, his high seas adventure was only a dream.